The Cleveland Example.

Fred Wilson was probably influenced in his decision, after adequate deliberation, to ask for the withdrawal of Ambassador Dumb, by the spirited manner in which the last Democratic president demanded the recall of a British ambassador, whose offense was utterly trifling by comparison with that to which the Austrian ambassador confessed. A man signing his name William Marchison, professing to be an American citizen, but formerly a British subject, sought the advice of the British ambassador as to which candidate he should vote for in the on-coming presidential election, in order to do the mother country a good turn. Lord Salisbury-West "let for it." He advised the inquirer to vote for Cleveland, and the Republican press of the country rang from one end to the other, with the assertion that the tariff policy which the Democrats then had in contemplation would be very favorable to Great Britain, by the testimony of its own accredited representative here. There were other ways of accounting for the ambassador's advice. But he had to go, and Great Britain took its medicine meekly. Compare this with an attempt to truncate industrial operation, conducted in possession of what the American people believe their undoubted rights as neutrals!—Boston Herald.

DYSPEPSIA ON THE DECLINE.

Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure Forty-Nine Cases Out of Fifty.

Why anyone in Barre, East Barre or Cabot should continue to suffer with indigestion when a box of SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS will cure, is certainly a mystery. The Red Cross Pharmacy, Frank Roark, and S. C. Voodry & Co., have been selling SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS for some time, and they know from actual experience in their own stores just what SEAEVER'S FAMOUS DYSPEPSIA TABLETS will do, and if you inquire of the Red Cross Pharmacy, Barre, Frank Roark, East Barre, or S. C. Voodry & Co., Cabot, they will tell you they never know a remedy to prove so decidedly beneficial in the treatment of indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation, sleeplessness, and other forms of stomach trouble.

It certainly ought to give you confidence when you know that every 50c box of SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS contains 20 days' treatment, and at the end of that time if you are not decidedly benefited all you need to do is to go back to the dealer and get your money. SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS are sold right on their own merits. They cure indigestion simply by tuning up the stomach and digestive organs so that the food will assimilate and give strength to the system, just as nature intended. SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS are such a good nerve tonic, too. Just try a box and see if it doesn't give you new energy, new ambition and new courage to carry out your plans and daily work. If it doesn't your money back—Advt.

E. H. Kittredge and Miss Irene Cushman assisted at an entertainment in Gayville Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Methodist church.

MARSHFIELD

Another big feature of the grand fair today was an exhibit in charge of F. H. Morse of the extension division, college of agriculture, University of Vermont, Burlington. This exhibit consisted of materials used in home-mixed fertilizers, grain mixtures for feeding, spraying materials, plant diseases and their control, with free bulletins and brieflets treating on the different subjects used. Also an exhibit of Harold L. Bailey, assistant to the commissioner of agriculture, in charge of insect suppression, with cases of mounted specimens of injurious and beneficial insects, including gypsy moths, brown-tail moth, San Jose and other scale insects, tent caterpillars, canker worms, etc. These exhibits came to us from the fair at Northfield, going from here to the state fair at White River Junction. This will be a special interest to the farmers and pupils of the public schools. The Fairbanks Scale Co. of St. Johnsbury had a representative with different patterns, from large farm scales to the tiny cream, syrup and postage scales. It was expected the Tenney company would be present with everything in the line of electric power and fixtures.

ITALIAN OFFICERS AND MEN GENIAL

King Victor Emmanuel Is Perhaps the Most Affable of All Toward His Soldiers—This Friendly Spirit Has Made for Better Discipline.

The Italian front in Trentino, Sept. 11.—A foreigner visiting the Italian army along any of the fronts is quickly impressed with the camaraderie existing between officers and men.

King Victor Emmanuel is, perhaps, the most affable of all the Italian officers toward the soldiers. The king uses a high-powered motor car in his almost constant tours along the fronts, but he always finds time to chat with groups of soldiers, speaking in the native dialect of the men he is talking to.

This friendly spirit between officers and men has actually made for excellent discipline and bravery, military experts state. And for this reason all attempts to enforce the German system of discipline in the Italian army have been abandoned.

With the exception of the British fighting in France, it is said no other nation takes as good care of its soldiers as Italy. The food is excellent and plentiful. The rations are cooked twice a day and served hot, regardless of whether the soldiers are in the trenches, on the reserve firing line, or on the highest mountain.

The first aid corps provides adequate facilities for handling the wounded along the firing line, while numerous field hospitals are located convenient to the fronts. Several large base hospitals have been established.

In addition there are numerous relief carried on by private and public subscription. Chief among these are the "first aid restaurants," which were established by an English woman, Signora Hullah-Scalfi, widow of a former prominent officer of the Italian Alpino, and Signora Bagnani, who was Miss Dewar of Hamilton, Ontario. Some of these restaurants are set up close to the firing lines. Others are located at bases of main railroad stations. In addition to giving regular meals the restaurants supply the soldiers with delicacies not provided for in the army rations.

Along the front in the Trentino one rises rapidly from the heat of the valleys to the sharp cold of the Alpine heights. While the army in the lower sections has been digging itself in, the troops holding the mountain positions have literally blasted themselves into the heights the soldiers' living quarters are cut in the solid rock. In many cases these caves are lined with planks and all are heated by fireplaces.

In the Cadore, north of Cortina and near the Marmolata mountain, which rises nearly 11,000 feet, there is a fair-sized town consisting entirely of entrenchments, or dugouts and caves. All of the caves are furnished with rough furniture made on the spot. The officers have beds of mattresses. The walls are covered with military cloaks and festooned with ivy and fir cones.

Over the entrance to the officers' mess is chiseled "Grand Hotel Mortar." In the center of the "hotel" hangs a cage containing a canary captured in an Austrian trench. Outside of the mess hall, and at various places in the cave-trenchments, or dugouts and caves. All of the caves are furnished with rough furniture made on the spot. STATES TO SHARE $850,000 FROM THE NATIONAL FORESTS

Secretary of Treasury Approves Annual Division of Receipts for School and Road Purposes.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—The portion of the national forest receipts for the fiscal year 1915 to go to the benefit of the various states in which the forests lie, according to the computation of the forest service just approved by the secretary of the treasury, amounts all told to more than $850,000. The gross receipts for the year ending June 30 were $2,481,469.35, of which under the law 25 per cent is paid over to the states for county school and road purposes and an additional 10 per cent is made available for expenditure by the secretary of agriculture in building roads and trails for the benefit of local communities.

Montana gets the largest share, having contributed the largest amount of receipts for the sale of timber, grazing and other uses of the forests, or more than $518,000. Of this amount, Montana is to receive $70,889.78 for county school and road purposes, while the forest service will expend $1,833.91 for improvements of special benefit to local communities and not included in the regular administrative and protective improvements. Idaho comes second with a 25 per cent allowance of $76,651.15 and a 10 per cent fund of $30,200.46. California is third, receiving a 25 per cent allowance of $67,611.37 and a 10 per cent fund of $27,044.74. The other national forests state follow in the order of the size of their respective shares.

Arizona, $60,807.89 under the 25 per cent provision and $23,923.16 under the 10 per cent; Colorado, $59,218.00 and $23,687.44; Oregon, $49,673.77 and $19,703.33; Utah, $48,675.96 and $19,470.38; Wyoming, $43,086.86 and $17,234.73; Washington, $37,445.54 and $14,578.23; New Mexico, $31,796.46 and $12,714.58; Nevada, $16,244.53 and $6,497.81; South Dakota, $12,988.11 and $5,195.25; Alaska, $11,653.75 and $4,662.30; Arkansas, $8,738.93 and $3,495.57; Florida, $2,33
